2 WOMEN, MAN ARE SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leo Miller, Gettysburg R. 4, and Mrs. Mildred Mae Herring, New Oxford R. 2, were sentenced to the Allegheny County workhouse by the Adams County Court this morning on charges of forgery, contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile minor and corrupting the morals of a juvenile.

The three were charged with forging 18 checks totaling $732.10 during the period from January 3 to February 20 and with having an 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller forge some of the checks for them.

Miller was sentenced from nine to 18 months in the workhouse and Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Herring to three to 16 months.

Sentenced To Jail
Sherman Rex Anderson, Gettysburg, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

Eddie Franklin, Washington, D.C., was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay a fine of $50 on a charge of driving while under the influence. The court said only 30 days was given because he had already been in jail for 30 days awaiting trial on the charge following an automobile accident in which his brother was badly injured. It was reported in court that the brother, in a Washington hospital, "will live but is paralyzed below the waist."

H. Lester Pyle, Bridgeton R. 1, was sentenced to 30 days and ordered to pay $50 for use of the county and costs, on a charge of driving while under the influence.

LeRoy Moten, Mt. Holly Springs, was given 30 days in the county jail and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and the costs on a charge of driving while under the influence, was immediately placed on parole because he had been in jail since March 18 and was given three months in which to pay the fine and costs.

Suspended Sentence
Paul Richard Riley, Aspers R. 1, charged with pointing and discharging a firearm, was given a suspended sentence, placed on probation for one year and ordered to pay the costs. Riley told the court that he had fired a 22 shot over his wife's shoulder to frighten her when she arrived home at 2 a.m. and refused to tell him where she had been. Mrs. Riley said she and her husband are now reconciled.

Clifford Glenn Chapman, Orrtanna R. D., charged with operating a vehicle during suspension of his license, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $150 for the use of the county and the costs and was placed on parole for three months during which time he is to pay the fine and costs.

Charges Nolle Prossed
Charges of contributing to the delinquency of juvenile minors, corrupting the morals of juvenile minors and aggravated assault and battery that had been brought against Lee Mainer, late of Blue Ridge Summit, were "nolle prossed" because of his death.

John W. Roxroth, Gettysburg R. 3, charged while driving while under the influence and with driving while his license was suspended, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail starting March 25 and ordered to pay a $50 fine and costs.

Robert I. Crum, Biglerville R. 2, charged while driving while his license was suspended, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail starting March 28, ordered to pay the costs, was immediately paroled for 30 days during which he must pay the costs.

Sentence Suspended
Richard Snyder, Gardner R. 2, who faced 35 counts of forgery and 35 counts of fraudulent conversion for altering purchase slips while employed by Zeigler Brothers Mill, was given a suspended sentence, placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay the costs. It was explained that he had made restitution of the money he secured through the changes of the slips.

Richard E. Cullison, Orrtanna R. 1, who had pleaded guilty to a morals charge, withdrew the plea when he appeared before the court. Bail was set at $3,000 for his appearance for trial at the August term of court. In default of bail he was placed in custody of the sheriff.

Sentence of Fred R. Bly, Gettysburg R. 4 gas station operator, on a bad checks charge, was suspended and he was placed on probation for a year on condition that he pay $100 for the use of the county and the costs and make restitution for the checks. The court said "in this case it looks more like poor business judgment."

COUNTY RADIO RELAY LEAGUE SETUP TESTED

Formation of an Adams County Radio Relay League was announced Monday evening in connection with the first formal test of the circuit designed to provide emergency communications for Civil Defense, the Red Cross, firemen or others who may have need of the service.

Made up of amateur radio operators in the county, the league is also hoping to interest new "hams" to fill in gaps in the circuit, mostly in the upper end of the county.

Most of the members are also members of a Carroll County Radio Relay league set up through Civil Defense to feed messages to Baltimore in case of emergency. The Adams County network tests are being held at 10 o'clock Monday nights at 29,500 kilocycles. The Carroll County network conducts its test Monday nights at 9:30 o'clock at 29,300 kilocycles.

Some Mobile Units

Most of the members of the Adams County unit, all radio enthusiasts who have spent their own money to construct transmitting and receiving shortwave stations, have installed mobile units in their cars or trucks and thus believe they could render valuable service in the event of emergencies by moving mobile units directly to the scene of the emergency to provide communications.

The Adams County unit is part of the American Radio Relay League and messages could be sent throughout the world through the various "ham" relays.

Charles Rich, Littlestown, is serving as coordinator for the county group with Walter B. Lane, York St., assistant coordinator.

Others in the network include Richard Geisler, Littlestown; Robert Plank, Charles Kranias, Thomas Adams and Charles Karas, Gettysburg; Robert Schleicher, New Oxford; and Fred Kauffman, East Berlin.

GHS Seniors Please Audience On Friday

Gettysburg High School seniors Friday evening pleased an audience of about 500 with their presentation of Dana Thomas's three-act comedy "Half-way to Heaven." A cast of 20 appeared under the direction of Miss Leola Holcomb with Miss Ruth McIlhenny assisting.

Leading roles were capably handled by David Weaver, Joyce Kendeheart, Helen Barley and Donald Moser while important supporting roles were well performed by Dorothy Himes, William Lowe, Lorna Wisler, Waldo Hartman, Merle Gorman, Johneta Murray, Molly Lighter, Roland Keller, Ralph Wood, Jane Reuning and Hugh McIlhenny. Extras were Aurelia Spence, Sondra Pensinger, Helen Pfeiffer, Del Weimer and Roland Schriver.

The senior high school band played between acts under the direction of Robert Zeigler.

The Rev. Oscar E. Feeman, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns, officiated. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: William Herman, Kenneth Shertzer, Rev. John Miller, Ralph E. Newman, Ralph Weikert and Allen Weikert.

M. O. GALLINGER DIES FRIDAY IN HOSPITAL HERE

Milo Oliver Gallinger, 66, East Berlin R. 2, a former director of the Gettysburg Rotary Club and for 14 years operator with his wife of a craft shop and weaving school at Guernsey and later at Brown's Dam, near East Berlin, died in the Warner Hospital Friday evening at 7:50 o'clock.

He had been in ill health since Christmas and was admitted to the hospital 10 days ago. The immediate cause of death was a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Gallinger was born at Port Huron, Mich., and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Luman Gal-linger. He was a member of Christ Lutheran Church here and last year was a director of the Gettysburg Rotary Club.

Mr. Gallinger was a designer of houses of the Henry Ford project and managed a loom factory in Michigan. He furnished looms to schools and colleges in many parts of the U.S., Canada and Alaska. He directed a commercial fabrics organization with more than 350 gift shops from coast to coast.

Services On Sunday
He remodeled the former Guernsey Country Club building into a loom shop and conducted a school of weaving there for 10 years before moving the business and school to Brown's Dam four years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Osma Palmer Gallinger; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Josephine C. DeDeo, Provincetown, Mass.; and these brothers and sisters, William, Maza, N. D.; Mrs. Buff Hellerman, Church Ferry, N. D.; Mrs. Pearl Enders, Pasadena, Calif.; Gold-thwaite Gallinger and Robert Gallinger, both of Renton, Wash.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Mr. Gallinger's loom shop at Brown's Dam, three miles west of East Berlin, with the Rev. Victor K. Meredith Jr., Gettysburg Methodist pastor, and the Rev. E. H. Palmer, assistant pastor of a Presbyterian Church in New York City, officiating. Interment in Milford Cemetery, Milford, Pa., Monday at 3 p.m. Fred F. Feiser, New Oxford funeral director, is in charge of the arrangements.

RURITAN CLUB IS ORGANIZING SCOUT TROOP

The Hunterstown Ruritan Club at its April meeting Friday evening at the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, Hunterstown, issued a call for boys of Scout age in that community who are interested in scouting to contact members of the club's troop committee.

The committee has been promoting the formation of a Hunterstown Boy Scout troop and Friday evening the hope was expressed that the troop can be activated in time to take part in annual Memorial services there on Saturday, May 26.

The members of the troop committee are David C. Myers, Walter Geiman, the Rev. Amos D. Meyers of York Springs; Ray Shupe, Derwin C. Wileman and Clyde Decker.

There was a discussion Friday evening of the club's role in sponsoring a scouting program conducted by Roy Hammond and Charles Ritter of the Black Walnut District committee of the Boy Scouts.

The club was entertained with piano selections by Mrs. Edgar Milhimes who also accompanied group singing.

Plan Auction

The finance committee chairman, Dan Greenawalt, announced May 24 as the date of the club's Spring Auction. The auction will be held at the Hunterstown Gun Club, at 8 p.m. with Clair Sanders as auctioneer. The proceeds from this sale are for the club's Projects Fund. The refreshment rights are being reserved for the ladies' organizations of the several area churches. Business establishments and individuals donating items will be announced at the time of the sale.

13 VACANCIES TO 2 ACADEMIES ARE NOW OPEN

Congressman James M. Quigley has announced that he is accepting applications from young men who are interested in the U. S. Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy for the 1957 class.

Quigley said that he will have three vacancies for midshipmen at the Naval Academy for the 1957 class and will have the opportunity of making ten nominations to the Air Force Academy.

The vacancies for the Naval Academy will be filled by the appointment of three principals and five alternates to each principal. Candidates will be appointed on the basis of their relative standings in a Civil Service competitive examination which will be conducted by the Commission on Monday, July 9. This examination requires approximately 3½ hours and consists of two aptitude tests and one subject-matter test.

21 State Vacancies
The nominations to the Air Force Academy will also be made as a result of ratings attained by interested applicants taking this same Civil Service competitive examination. The ten young men nominated will compete with all candidates chosen by Pennsylvania senators and representatives for approximately 21 vacancies allotted to the state.

Quigley indicated that applications will be accepted until Friday, June 15, from bona fide residents of the 19th Pennsylvania District, which includes Adams, York and Cumberland Counties. To be eligible a candidate must be unmarried and be at least 17 years of age and not more than 22 on July 1, 1957.

The 19th District legislator urged all young men who are interested in the Naval and Air Force Academies to write to him at Room 338, House of Representatives, Washington 25, D. C. Applicants should include in their letters of applications their full name and address, date and place of birth, and names of parents or guardians.

LIST 6 COURSES FOR L-T SCHOOL

The Adams County Leadership Training School's board of directors met at the YWCA Friday evening with the president, Rev. Robert Knechel, presiding, to advance plans for the annual school.

The annual leadership training school will be held in the Gettysburg Church of the Brethren on the six Monday evenings, October 22 through November 26. The school will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The worship period will be changed from the middle of the school's period to the end of the two-hour session "to serve as a challenge and inspiration for all those who attend the sessions."

There will be six courses of study which will be made available to the church school teachers and leaders, and all interested persons this year. This list follows:

Sunday School lessons, children's division course, a music course, how to read and study the Bible, teaching junior high and the Christian home.

Mrs. Ralph Hikes of York Springs, was appointed to the board for a two-year term. The officers of the school are: Luther Lady and R. R. Starner, as co-deans, and Mrs. Glenn E. Simpson as registrar.

President Plays Golf This Morning

President Eisenhower, at his farm here for the first full weekend since March 18, took advantage of the balmy weather this morning and teed off for a round of golf at the Gettysburg Country Club at 9:42 o'clock this morning. This is the first golf match here since last August.

Accompanying the President were General Arthur S. Nevin and George Allen.

The President arrived here Friday afternoon. Mrs. Eisenhower arrived a few hours earlier. They returned to The White House Sunday evening or Monday morning.

9 Essays Selected In Contest By DAR

Essays written by Gettysburg High School students have been annual essay contest sponsored by the Gettysburg Chapter of the DAR for members of the senior class.

Written on the theme "A Private Soldier in The War of Ideals," the essays will be judged by Rev. Clyde R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Miss Martha Sachs and Herbert A. Rafab, former teachers. A $15 first and $10 second prize will be given the winners.

The students whose essays were chosen for the final judging are: Sue Britcher, Joyce Kendeheart, Helen Pfeiffer, Jane Reuning, David Ridinger, Roland Schriver, Karl Silex, Edward Slayley and Ralph Wood.

Student Chemists In Conference Here

The Gettysburg Chemistry Department is host to a regional intercollegiate student chemists' conference today. Approximately 70 chemistry students and professors from colleges in the area are present. Delegations are here from Muhlenberg, Franklin and Marshall, Lebanon Valley, Haverford, Ursinus, Delaware, Wilson, Dickinson and others schools.

Harry F. Lewis, dean of the institute of paper chemistry in Appleton, Wis., and chairman of the education section of the American Chemical Society, will be the main speaker. Eight students presented research papers.

Two vastly different versions of the slaying of Lee Wayne Mainer at the Tract Inn early on the morning of March 24 were given Friday afternoon to the jury trying George W. Gingell, 42-year-old Zora quarry owner, for Mainer's murder.

The first was an eye-witness account by Elmer A. "Bud" Shockey, 33-year-old Blue Ridge Summit truck driver, who testified that Gingell had emerged from a rear door of the inn with a shotgun in his hand, called to Mainer in the darkness, announced his intention of killing him, and taunted by Mainer's "you don't have the guts to do it," fired the gun to his shoulder and raised the fatal blast at Mainer while the latter was "about a car length away."

The other account was Gingell's own story, as told to police in the office of District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter about eight hours after the shooting. Gingell's hour-long statement was read from the stand late Friday afternoon and told of obscene threats made by Mainer against Gingell's wife and two teen-age daughters while Gingell, who "wanted to go home," tried to "back Mainer off" with the shotgun.

BANQUET HELD BY HOLY NAME

The 15th annual banquet of the Southern Regional Holy Name Union of the Diocese of Harrisburg was held Thursday evening in Sacred Heart Church auditorium, Conewago Chapel. Approximately 425 Holy Name men and guests from parishes in York, Adams and Franklin Counties were in attendance.

An address was given by Henry J. Mahady, prominent lawyer from Latrobe, who spoke on "Holy Name Man and the World Situation." Mr. Mahady, a Holy Name man, Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus and past national commander of the Amvets, told the men that they had the power of uniting with other Holy Name men in the movement to bring God back to America. He stressed the fact that each one could in his own way, make the country strong against the forces of evil which seek to destroy it.

Asks Cooperation

The Rev. Charles H. Allen, diocesan Holy Name spiritual director, Lancaster, reminded the men that the Holy Name Society is a spiritual organization and asked their co-operation in the movement to "bring God back into the family" by following the advice of Father Peyton: "The family that prays together stays together."

The regional Holy Name spiritual director, the Rev. Joseph G. Gotwals, Hanover, spoke briefly, urging the members to be active in their parish societies and to remember at all times that they are members of a spiritual confraternity. He then installed the following officers: President, Jesse L. Crabbs, St. Joseph's, Hanover; vice president, Dr. Joseph Riley, St. Francis Xavier, Gettysburg; secretary, Robert J. Smith, St. Vincent's, Hanover; treasurer, Thomas Devine, Sacred Heart, Conewago Chapel; marshals, James Robinson, Immaculate Conception, New Oxford, and Henry Moore, Sacred Heart, Conewago Chapel.

Robert J. Smith, Hanover, was chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Leo Groff, McSherrystown; Lawrence J. Allen, York, and Thomas Devine and John L. Livelsberger, Sacred Heart, Conewago Chapel. The meal was prepared and served by a committee from Sacred Heart parish.

JR. RED CROSS NAMES OFFICERS

Miss Darlene Sponseller was elected president of the Adams County Council of the Junior Red Cross at the spring council meeting Wednesday evening at the New Oxford High School. Thirty-two students attended the meeting with their advisors.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Linda Miller of Delone High School; second vice president, Brenda Miller, East Berlin High School; third vice president, Joyce Riley, Gettysburg High School; secretary, Wahnetha Vines, Biglerville High School.

Two delegates will attend the annual summer training school at Hood College June 24 until July 1, it was announced.

Gettysburg High School will take candy and favors to the county home on Tuesday. Biglerville High School took cookies to the home last Thursday.

Give Subscription

A year's subscription to "Boy's Life" for Billy Newman who is at the Elizabethtown Crippled Children's Hospital, has been purchased by members of the Biglerville High School, it was announced.

It was requested that all favors be sent to the county office one week in advance.

Reports were given by each school and gift boxes were filled for the veterans' hospitals. Boxes contained cookies, joke books and writing portfolios.

The following schools attended: Delone Catholic High School, East Berlin High School, Gettysburg High School, Biglerville High School, New Oxford High School.

Gettysburg High School will be the host for the fall meeting.

Refreshments were served and games were played.

porting and possessing liquor without a Pennsylvania tax seal, were sentenced this morning. Myers was fined $200 and ordered to pay the costs; Black was fined $200 and costs or in default to serve 60 days starting March 30; Carter for whom it was a second offense, was given the minimum allowable for persons found twice guilty of the charges, a fine of $300 and three months in the county jail beginning April 5. The court directed that the four quarts of moonshine whiskey involved in the case be turned over to the court for destruction.

Myers, father of seven children, who had also pleaded guilty to driving after suspension, was given a suspended sentence in that case on condition he pay $100 for the use of the costs.

Peter Morse, Baltimore, charged with burglary and larceny, was given a suspended sentence, placed on probation for one year with the costs to be paid within three months after his final release from possible sentence on a larceny charge which he will face in Baltimore after being transported there from the local jail.

proprietor) was and they said on the dance floor. I told him, too, and we both went to the kitchen. I saw George (Gingell) there and told Troxell he'd better call the police and an ambulance.

"Gingell said: 'I killed the . . . out there he lays.' I told George I thought he shot him through the windshield but Gingell said 'No, he was standing there.' I went out the door again and I seen Mainer then, lying on the ground up near the building, on his stomach." Shockey described Gingell as "cool" after the shooting.

Denies Close Friendship

On cross-examination Shockey was asked about having seen Mainer and Mrs. Hoffman at two of the other taverns he had visited before going to the Tract Inn. He denied he went to the Silver Dollar to tell Mainer Gingell was at the Tract Inn. Yake questioned Shockey at length on why he had bought four oyster sandwiches at the Silver Dollar "to take home" and then had gone to the Tract Inn.

Shockey denied he and Mainer had been close friends and could not recall that they had ever "gone out together." Asked if they had not taken two young girls to the Tract Inn and other taverns some time ago, Shockey denied he had been with the girls whom he said Mainer had taken home. Shockey was uncertain about how many persons had accompanied him on some of his trips to the taverns that night and said he thought no one had been with him from the Silver Dollar to the Tract Inn although a drunk turned up later in his car there.

Shockey denied having told "Ralph and Jim Treasler" after the shooting that he (Shockey) was inside the inn when he heard the shot and ran out to investigate.

Trooper Is Summoned

Some additional questions from Teeter brought out the fact that Shockey and Gingell had been friends for some time and "George" bought me a couple of chicken dinners at the Tract Inn."

Then the district attorney called witnesses to prepare the way for the presentation of Gingell's March 24 statement on the shooting while Mainer was a patient at the Warner Hospital.

He called Trooper David K. James, of the state police here, prosecutor in the murder case, and Lt. R. O. Parsons, Harrisburg, a state police lieutenant of detectives. Both told of the circumstances under which Gingell made the "voluntary" statement after being warned that anything he said could be used against him in court. Yake arrived early in the questioning, the officers said.

After Defense Attorney Edwin Nikirk had examined Miss Sheffer's notes, asked a number of questions about them and entered a formal objection to the admission of the statement, Miss Sheffer began the long translation.

Fired Gun In "Air"

Gingell had prefaced his statement with an announcement that he was going to tell "the unadulterated truth." He told of arriving at the inn about 10 o'clock after a musical at the Fairfield High School and when Mainer and Mrs. Hoffman arrived between 12 and 1 a.m. Mainer said: "There's the — that had me arrested." Gingell said he saw Mainer was going to be belligerent so he (Gingell) went to the kitchen. Mainer made his threats against the chastity of Gingell's wife and daughters and Gingell stayed in the kitchen "quite a while." Then Mainer swore at Gingell and said he wanted to "see him out, side." Mainer then came around to the kitchen door and "called me out, raving and ranting and cursing 'I will work you over.'"

"There was the gun on the wall and I picked it up and loaded it. Carroll (the proprietor) told me where the shells were. I wanted to go home and I didn't want a fight. I told him I didn't want any trouble and I told him to go back (they were on the outside then) and he did. I had the gun pointed in his direction to show I meant business. Mainer started cursing again and I fired the gun in the air and went back to the kitchen. I thought he would leave."

Intended To "Stop Him"

"But he came back to do it again with the same kind of language and acting like a raving maniac." Five minutes later Gingell went out again with the re-loaded gun "to protect him."

"He (Mainer) started backing away but continuing his remarks when he got back to his car and he said those things about my wife and daughters again. I told him to stay away from me and not come closer. He took a few steps toward me about the front of his car and that's when I exploded the gun. I suppose, my intention was to stop him, not kill him or anywhere near kill him."

Gingell has estimated he was "about 20 yards" away from Mainer when the gun went off. "From his remarks he was carrying a steel middler in his pocket and they tell me that's more effective than brass knuckles," Gingell said in his statement. "I've seen evidence of what's he's done to better men than I and it was a combination of fear of him and the words he was saying that caused me to fire. I knew I hit him and then I went back to the kitchen. I believe he doubled up. I told Carroll to call the police."

In answer to a question, Gingell had said March 24 that the gun was "in a normal shooting or aiming position" when he fired. Gingell said in the statement he did not remember seeing anyone else outside when the shots were fired.

DISMAYED BY TURNOVER IN AIR COMMAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay testified Friday that a constant turnover in "professional airmen" is "my most critical deficiency."

LeMay, leader of the Strategic Air Command, told a Senate air power inquiry that his assigned mission of countering any nuclear attack "at a moment's notice" is being handicapped by lack of skilled and trained personnel.

It takes from six to seven years to design and produce the powerful "new weapons system," the general said, while most persons who joined the Air Force four years ago have returned to civilian life.

Classify Personnel
LeMay said SAC does not classify its men as "professional airmen" until they have completed a four-year hitch and re-enlisted.

Brig. Gen. Horace Wade, director of personnel for SAC, aided LeMay in the presentation with charts and colored slides.

Chairman Symington (D-Mo) of the special five-member subcommittee asked to check relative U.S. and Soviet air power, said the group already had heard much closed door testimony "on the strength and weaknesses of the Strategic Air Command."

He said the personnel problems were being presented in public because "the Russians already know about them."

Will Be Questioned Further
Symington said LeMay would appear at a second public session Monday to answer questions about adequacy of planes and equipment after security officials at the Pentagon had screened both the questions and LeMay's written answers to them.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), a subcommittee member, said he felt "the public should know if our professional field commanders have adequate equipment, facilities and personnel."

"LEARN ABOUT PRAYER"

They say prayer is a beacon light... this I believe is true... for prayer has given faith to me... and strength to follow through... I've found when searching for a friend... prayer helps me on the way... toward the goal I strive to make... while toiling day by day... through supplication to my God... new hope is born in me... and tender words of contrite prayer... form heaven's priceless key... however rough the road may be... a prayer can make it smooth... and when I ache deep inside... its magic balm can soothe... whenever problems must be solved... prayer has a wondrous charm... for it's as though I tightly hold... onto a Godly arm... and so I say to all of you... who carry heavy care... talk things over with the Lord... learn something about prayer.

DAYLIGHT TIME STARTS SUNDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The sunshine season is here again.

Once more, it's time for about half the people in the United States to switch to Daylight Saving Time, and thus gain themselves an extra after-work hour of sun each day.

The change officially takes effect at 2 a.m. tomorrow, when the clock hands should be turned forward to 3 a.m.

Daylight Saving Time is observed wholly or in part by 21 states and the District of Columbia, mostly the heavily populated states in the northeastern quarter of the nation.

Some of them keep the "fast time" in effect until Sept. 30, others until Oct. 28.

Those in which DST is used throughout the states are California, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The District of Columbia does likewise.

Others with cities or sections on daylight saving are Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

DICK NIXON'S CANDIDACY IS NOT A SURPRISE

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—When a politician climbs the ladder to within one rung of the top, it's hardly time to jump off. So Vice President Nixon's announcement he wants to run again was something less than a surprise.

What else would he want to do? He's not only a politician but an ambitious one, as his record shows. He made it in a big way in six years: first elected to Congress in 1946, to the Senate in 1950, to the vice presidency in 1952.

If Eisenhower should die before inauguration day next January, Nixon will be president. If the two men are elected and Eisenhower dies before January 1961, Nixon becomes president.

Good Chance In 1960
And if they both are elected and live out their term, Nixon will have a good chance for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. It seemed only a matter of time before he said he'd like to be Eisenhower's running mate again.

The time element was interesting in itself. Eisenhower handled the question of Nixon's candidacy like a man sticking a thermometer under the nation's political tongue. No announcement was made until the temperature looked normal.

Nixon has a knack for making people either like him or despise him. Almost everyone seems to like Eisenhower.

The feeling about Nixon ranges from that of Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) to that of former President Truman. When Millikin heard yesterday Nixon's hat was in the ring again, he said, "Good, good, good."

"Sore At Nixon"
Truman has been quoted as saying, although he denies using the profanity: "I don't like the son of a bitch," and I don't care who knows it."

Democrats have been sore at Nixon for his campaign tactics in 1952 and 1954, his linking of "Democrats" and "Communists" in one sentence or paragraph.

There was the possibility Nixon had antagonized, besides Democrats, a lot of independents and perhaps some Republicans. It was something which Republican leaders may have thought about.

Mrs. James Duttera and Mrs. Kenneth Miller will be in charge of the program for the next meeting May 31. The hostesses will be Mrs. Clair A. Beamer and Mrs. Dale W. Stary.

Mrs. Emory H. Snyder, N. Queen St., will be hostess at the meeting of the Frances Segner Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Hustler's Class of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Starr Bible Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph DeHoff: President, Mrs. Paul H. Scheivert; first vice president, Mrs. Edgar Pfeffer; second vice president, Mrs. George Stover; secretary, Mrs. Minnie S. Miller; first assistant secretary, Mrs. Ralph DeHoff; second assistant secretary, Mrs. George Plunkert; treasurer, Mrs. William H. Dixon; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Ernest R. Sentez.

The origin of canning was outlined by Mrs. Irvin Kindig. A reading "Into The Past," was given by Mrs. Scheivert. Mrs. Ralph Conover and Mrs. John Kindig was appointed to serve as hostesses for the next meeting May 31. Refreshments were served to the 16 members and four visitors in attendance.

YORK SPRINGS — Mrs. Amos Meyers, York Springs, and Miss Betsy Snyder, New Oxford, attended the annual meeting and tea at the Diamond Methodist Church, Hazleton, Tuesday. Mrs. Meyers gave an illustrated talk on Hawaii.

Kennedy Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, is reported showing much improvement. On Tuesday afternoon he was removed from the oxygen tent.

Frank Hetherington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hetherington, and Robert Harbold, son of Ervin Harbold, are stationed with the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C. They had not seen each other during their service until Easter Sunday when both young men attended the dawn services. Hetherington is a member of the band which was playing for the occasion. Both are graduates of the York Springs High School.

The North Adams Jointure PTA Executive Board met at York Springs High School Tuesday night. The date for the next meeting has been changed to Monday, May 7. The Beginners Band will furnish the music. There will be installation of officers for the coming year. James A. Young, a member of the York Springs High School faculty, will speak and show slides on the topic "Your Child's Safety To And From School." Members of the Girl Scouts will have charge of the children's "Story Hour." Mrs. Everett Weiser is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Seventy-two attended the Ladies Night of the Methodist Men of York Springs and New Oxford held Thursday night at the Lincoln View Rest, near Abbottstown. Additional guests were present from Hanover, Gettysburg and Harrisburg. The Rev. Amos D. Meyers was toastmaster. Rev. William Fenstermacher, associate pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg, was the speaker and showed colored slides of his trip last year through the Holy Land. James Herman, James Korver and Myron Korver sang several selections. The table was decorated with potted plants which later were given to each lady present.

MURDER JURY TO GET CONFESSION
DENVER (AP)—A signed confession which the FBI got from John Gilbert Graham will go before a jury trying him on a murder charge in the dynamite bombing of an airliner that killed his mother and 43 others.

"The court is fully convinced the statement was voluntary," Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald ruled yesterday after hearing Graham claim the confession was not true.

Graham testified in the absence of the jury that he signed the statement because he feared the FBI would arrest his wife, Gloria, 22, because of a discrepancy in statements she and Graham had made to the FBI. The discrepancy concerned Graham's actions the evening of Nov. 1 when a United Air Lines plane exploded near Longmont, Colo.

Dist. Atty. Bert Keating asked Graham: "You mean to tell this court you assumed responsibility for 44 deaths because something was said about your wife going to jail?"

"Yes, sir," Graham answered. The jury of seven men and five women was taken from the courtroom during the four-hour testimony concerning the "voluntariness" of the confession.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm prices — a key political issue in this election year — have risen to their highest level since September 1953.

The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that average prices received by farmers for their products rose by 1 per cent between mid-March and mid-April. However, average farm costs also went up by nearly 1 per cent over the same period.

$37,900,000 FOR THREE SHIPS IS TURNED DOWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration request for $37,900,000 to build three experimental merchant ships, including an atomic tanker, was turned down Friday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money had been included in the $1,522,673,000 President Eisenhower sought to finance the Commerce Department and related agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. The committee cut the over-all request to $1,382,003,000.

The House Merchant Marine Committee had questioned the authority of the Maritime Administration to build the ships even if the money were provided.

Ninety-eight million was chopped from the 295 million requested for maritime activities and 25 millions from the 800 millions asked for federal-aid highway work. However, the money approved for the highway program is 35 millions more than Congress appropriated for the current year.

Other Appropriations
Funds approved for maritime activities include 24 million to convert two mariner-type merchant ships for the American President Lines and 40 millions for the merchant fleet replacement program.

For the Census Bureau the committee recommended 134 million to start a census of governments, a million for a national housing survey, and $150,000 to prepare for 1958 censuses of business, transportation, manufacturers and mineral industries.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration was allotted 196 million a cut of 6½ million. The committee earmarked a large chunk of CAA money for construction of 16 new radar centers and improvement of existing radar.

The committee recommended that the Civil Aeronautics Board undertake immediate studies of subsidy requirements, fares and rates.

Other allotments included $9,200,000 for the Bureau of Standards; $37,900,000 for the Weather Bureau, including an extra million dollars for hurricane and tornado research; $15,410,000 for operating expenses of the canal Zone government, and seven millions for the Small Business Administration in addition to a 50-million revolving fund for loans.

TEN YEARS AGO

Eddie Plank Selected For Baseball's Hall Of Fame: The late Eddie Plank, Adams county's greatest contribution to major league baseball, has been named to baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. He was one of 11 new members voted into the shrine by a special oldtimers committee.

Eddie had been termed by many sports critics as one of the greatest left hand hurlers of all time. He gained his greatest fame as a member of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics from 1902 to 1918 during which time he appeared in several world series. He is one of the few to gain over 300 victories.

Eddie never hurled in minor league baseball. He started his pitching for the Good Intent school in Strasburg township, in 1896. He pitched for Gettysburg college in 1901 and 1902 and went directly to the Athletics from college. For 13 years he hurled for the A's and then went with St. Louis when the outlaw Federal league was organized. After two years in the Federal league he pitched for the St. Louis Browns in the American League in 1918.

His final game was hurled for the Browns in 1918 when he dropped a 1 to 0 ball game to Walter Johnson of Washington.

Following his retirement from major league baseball Eddie pitched in independent baseball around Harrisburg during which he was never defeated. Eddie died suddenly from a heart attack on September 29, 1929. The college gymnasium was named the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium in his honor.

Miss Doris Glenn Honored By Class: Doris C. Glenn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John G. Glenn, 27 East Lincoln avenue, was elected permanent president of the senior class at the spring elections at Gettysburg college.

Miss Marion J. Biggs And Major Sloat Wed On Friday: Miss Marion Josephine Biggs, daughter of Mrs. Roland L. Biggs, Orrtanna, became the bride of Major Charles Allen Sloat, Orrtanna, in a double-ring ceremony performed Friday afternoon in the Church of the Abiding Presence on the seminary campus.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nelson Frank, Mechanicville, a former pastor of the Orrtanna Methodist church of which the bride and groom are members, before a gathering of 250 relatives and friends of the couple.

Daniel E. Teeter Re-opens His Law Office: Attorney Daniel E. Teeter has reopened his law office in the Minter building, Baltimore street.

Teeter, who established the office there in 1939, closed his office in July 1942 when he entered the U.S. Army. He served with the counter intelligence corps in the China-Burma-India theater until his discharge several months ago. Since then he has completed a course on recent law developments given for lawyers returned from service in order to bring them up to date on changes in the law that may have occurred while they were in service.

New Pumper For Cashtown Fire Company: A special meeting of the Cashtown fire company will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock to vote on the purchase of a new fire engine recently purchased by the company. The public is invited to the meeting. Secretary Clarence D. Deardorff said today.

Col. E. J. Nowicki On Terminal Leave: Col. E. J. Nowicki Jr., who is on terminal leave, joined his wife and two children, Edward and David, at their home on Baltimore street Saturday. He served in the Philippines and later was assistant adjutant general of the 24th corps in Korea.

CAMERA THRILLS
It's time to get out that camera of yours, or to purchase one if you have none. Never have there been so many people interested in taking pictures. And what joy follows all those who take up this hobby.

Camera fun is universal, and for the investment of a very small sum an efficient camera can be purchased — with them a world of pleasure awaiting its owner. Color prints have added enormously to the pleasure of taking pictures. Travelers are lost without this means of telling the story of each separate trip. It's soon vacation time, so get out that camera and dream of the joys ahead!

Not only do we camera owners get happiness out of our hobby, but endless others are given pleasure in viewing our skill and adventures. There is no end to the pleasure of hunting and traveling with our camera. It becomes a sort of secretary to our simplest wish. And every time we take a picture we learn something new in observation and composition.

Before me is a beautiful photograph that a friend gave me of three kittens. It took him hours to get the right composition — but when he finally got it, it drew a noted prize! It often takes patience, as well as alertness, to get a genuine work of art. But it pays. A camera is an educator. We keep learning and keep growing in our ability to rightly observe, and not waste films. Don't just "take" a picture. Study each possibility. Know your camera, and keep it in clean order. Discard the poor pictures. Keep the good ones as encouragement! Learn from the experts so that you may become one.

My typewriter and my cameras are two of my traveling companions. On all my vacations they are my musts. Make them yours.

BEAUTY
The green of the grass and the blue of the sky
And the daffodil's gold,
As a fellow on business goes hurrying by,
Are good to behold.

A man who is eager to buy or to sell
As he goes on his way,
May forget about dealing to share in the spell
Of a tulip display.

A forsythia bush that has burst into bloom
To fretful man brings
This truth, in this life that's so crowded there's room
For God's lovelier things.

British Bride Of Local Vet Arrives Today: Adams county welcomed another English bride today with Mrs. Betty Crandon Timmins, of Somerset, England, wife of William T. Timmins Jr., Buford avenue, arriving aboard the U.S.S. Saturnia.

Mrs. Timmins was one of 1,200 English brides to arrive in the U.S. today aboard the ship. She was met by her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Timmins Sr. at New York City.

Local Guides Will Consider Civil Service: A proposal to place the Gettysburg Battlefield Guides under civil service was back Saturday to the spot it started from, with the guides "considering the possibility and advisability" of offering some type of legislation which would make the local guides federal employees.

This was the conclusion following a meeting of approximately 40 guides at the fire engine house Friday night.

REDS SAY THEY WILL WELCOME U. N. ARMS' BAN

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev said Friday the Soviet Union would "welcome" a United Nations ban on the shipment of arms to the Middle East.

Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin wound up their 10-day tour of Britain at a press conference with some 400 newsmen where they answered written questions freely and got a warm reception.

The news conference, covering a wide range, brought out that:

1. Prime Minister Eden has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union this year—the date to be fixed later.

2. Bulganin and Khrushchev indicated they would like to visit the United States if they thought such a visit would be profitable. They parried the question with, "Who would not like to visit that country if he has business there?"

3. Bulganin appealed for British help in bringing about closer ties between the United States and the Soviet Union, which he said at present are "far from sufficiently normal, a fact we regret."

4. Khrushchev denied any intention of attempting to drive a wedge between Britain and the United States and said Russia favored even "pulling out the wedges" now existing.

5. Bulganin urged that Western embargoes on shipment of strategic materials to the Communist world "be thrown on the rubbish heap."

The news conference was televised from London's great Central Hall near the Houses of Parliament.

Khrushchev declared that Russia does not ship arms to anyone. "And we would like there to be no shipments at all," he said.

Will 'Welcome' Ban
But, he added, "I think we would answer wrongly if we were to say that we would not sell arms to states which urge us to do and the reason for that is that shipments are being made by other countries."

"If it were possible to agree through the United Nations or otherwise that this would not take place," he said, "we would only welcome that, and we would be prepared to take part in such an undertaking which would help bring about peaceful conditions in the troubled areas of the world."

Khrushchev spoke in answer to a written question whether Russia would use her influence on "friendly governments" to slow the international arms race. The West contends that peace has been endangered in the Middle East by Communist Czechoslovakia's sale of arms to Egypt, which has upset the balance between the Arab world and Israel.

Oklahoma's population declined 2.7 per cent between April 1, 1950, and July 1, 1954.

REPORT SLIGHT CUT IN CRIMES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Confirming preliminary estimates, the FBI reported today there was a slight decline in major crimes in the United States in 1955, the first drop-off in eight years.

However, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover described the decrease amounting to two-tenths of 1 per cent, as "almost negligible when viewed in the light of the fact that this is the fourth consecutive year that the estimated number of crimes exceeded the two million mark."

Last year's major crime total was estimated at 2,262,450 compared with 2,267,250 in 1954.

U. S. PAYROLL RISES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported today that the federal civilian payroll increased by 1,276 persons in March as compared with February.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said this marked the third straight month there had been a small increase in the number of employees.

The total was 2,352,647 in March as against 2,351,371 in February.

Warriors Add Another Track Victory By Edging Hanover And Steelton In 3-Way Meet

Gettysburg High School's trackmen added another victory to its list when they captured a triangular meet with Hanover and Steelton on the Nighthawks' field at Hanover Friday afternoon.

The Warriors, with six first places, piled up 72½ points to win handily. Hanover finishing second with 43½ while Steelton was a close third with 43.

Taking first places for Coach George Forney's outfit were the following: Jim Wheeler, mile run in 5:09; Johnny Coleman, 880 in 2:11.2; Joe Dearing, discus with a toss of 128-9½; Ralph Heffner, pole vault, 9 feet; Merle Gorman, broad jump with a leap of 19-10, and the mile relay team of Dearing, Ronald Schriver, Glenn Weishaar and Gorman with a mark of 3:36.3.

Two Double Winners
Johnstone and Reed, Steelton, were double winners. Johnstone took the 100 in 10.6 second and the 220 in 22.2. He was also a member of the winning 880 relay squad. Reed won the 160 low hurdles and 120 high hurdles.

Next Friday the Warriors meet Waynesboro here in a dual meet as their final workout prior to the annual South Penn Conference meet on the Gettysburg College field Saturday, May 12.

TURNER LEADS QUALIFIERS FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Jack Beckner of the Los Angeles Turners, who said he was pushed into gym work because of his brother's ability, topped the list of qualifiers today for the 1956 U.S. Olympic gymnastics team.

The 25-year-old Beckner won the parallel bar and calisthenics preliminary and was runner-up in the horizontal bar.

"I got started in gym work," Beckner said, "on a playground because my mother wanted me to keep up with my brother, Dick, who had won a city high school gym title."

Dick Beckner placed eighth among the qualifiers with 57.7 points.

Number one on the list of 15 women finalists is Sandra Rudick, 23-year-old Indianapolis housewife who had her second child just 5½ months ago. She won three preliminary events and tied for first in a fourth to score 35.85 points out of a possible 40.

Name Team Tonight
Six men and six women will be named tonight to represent America in the gymnastic competition at the Olympic Games in Australia this November.

John M. Miles of Philadelphia, representing the Florida State Gymkhana of Tallahassee, trailed Beckner by 2½ points in the all-around scoring which determines the Olympic qualifiers. Beckner had 61.35 out of a possible 70.

Karl Schwenzfeier of Philadelphia, now an Air Force lieutenant, and co-titlist with Miles, tied for fifth with 58.1. Third place went to Able Grossfield, Champaign, Ill. 58.7; fourth to Joseph Kopy's, Cleveland, 58.45, and Armando Vega, Los Angeles, followed with 58.1. Mrs. Rudick grabbed a 2-point lead over Mrs. Judy Holt Howe of Rochester, Pa., in the women's all-around. Mrs. Howe had 33.85, followed by Doris Fuchs, Rochester, N. Y., with 33.6.

DODGERS KEEP WINNING WITH HURTING CREW

By JOE REICHLR
The Associated Press

Pity the poor, porous and pathetic pitching staff of the Brooklyn Dodgers!

Wasn't it only a couple of weeks ago that Dodger Manager Walter Alton was moaning about his "hurting" hill crew, crippled by the loss of sore-armed Billy Loes, Karl Spooner and Sandy Koufax, not to mention the hospitalized Don Bessent?

In defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates last night 7-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Roger Craig, the Dodgers got their fourth consecutive complete game by their pitching staff. They lead both leagues with five route-going performances in eight starts.

In 1955, the Dodger staff put together four straight complete games only twice, never more. The victory widened the Dodgers' first place National League lead over idle Milwaukee to a full game. The New York Giants climbed into fourth place by defeating the Phillies 5-3 behind the six-hit pitching of Al Worthington.

Cincinnati won its second game in seven starts, beating the Chicago Cubs 7-4. Rain washed out the scheduled contest between the St. Louis Cardinals and Braves in Milwaukee.

Senators Trim Orioles
Chicago, New York and Cleveland, running one-two-three in the American League, continued their winning ways but Boston was still in the dumps dropping its fifth straight.

The surprising Washington Senators evened their season's record at 5-5 with an 8-5 triumph over Baltimore.

The White Sox won their fifth in six starts, taking a 9-7 slugfest from Kansas City to maintain their first place percentage lead over New York. The Yankees whipped the Red Sox 5-2. Bobby Avila's 10th inning home run with a man on base gave the Indians a 4-3 decision over Detroit.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who says the minor leagues are dying? A crowd of 11,000 watched the Johnstown Johnnies come from behind for a 6-5 victory over the Williamsport Grays in Johnstown's Eastern League baseball opener last night.

A gimmick helped swell the throng, of course. In this case it was a drawing for an automobile. Everybody wasn't happy about it, though. Williamsport manager John Fitzpatrick filed a protest over the nine-minute delay midway in the fifth inning.

Catcher Len Jackson's bases-full double in the eighth pushed across the deciding runs and the Johnnies took sole possession of first place. Their record is 2-0.

At Reading, the Allentown Red Birds coasted after Ray Mendoza's three-run homer in the first inning to edge the Reading Indians 3-2 and dump Reading into second place with a 2-1 record.

In other games, the Syracuse Chiefs spotted the Binghamton Triplets five runs in the first inning but returned with 16 hits for a 13-6 decision at Syracuse, and the Albany Senators got all the runs they needed on Vince Furfaro's bases-loaded triple to beat the Schenectady Blue Jays 6-2.

DELONE EDGES THUNDERBOLTS

Six runs in the first inning sparked Delone Catholic to a 10-6 victory over Littlestown High School Friday afternoon on the Brushtown diamond.

Littletown started off well with four runs in the top of the first frame but Larry Miller, Delone hurler, settled down thereafter to keep the Bolts under control.

Bobby Nester, Stan Mummert and Bob Orndorff divided the hurling for Littlestown.

Errors played a prominent part in the scoring for both teams. Delone being charged with five miscues and Littlestown with six.

Delone's triumph was its second against four defeats and avenged a previous 10-6 loss at Littlestown. The Bolts are now 6-4 for the season.

Next Tuesday Littlestown plays at Big Spring. Delone comes here to meet Gettysburg High Warriors next Friday.

BUILDING AND FARM

Four Children Of Mr. And Mrs. Glenn L. Sterner, Gettysburg R. 1. Are Active In 4-H Work In County

4-H work "kind of grows on you," Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Sterner, Gettysburg R. 1, are inclined to agree. The couple have four children in 4-H work at the present time, and a fifth who may soon be a county agent—in charge of 4-H work. In addition, Mrs. Sterner serves as a local 4-H leader in the Round Top area.

The family, chosen to represent the county in this week's article on 4-H, carries on so many projects, both 4-H and FFA, that, as Mrs. Sterner explains, "sometimes it's difficult to figure who owns the most around here, we or the children."

The baby of the 4-H family is Linda Lee, aged 11, a student at the Keefauver Elementary School, who began her 4-H membership last year as a member of the Round Top Home Economics Club and the Horticultural Buds, a flower club. Linda Lee won a blue ribbon for her work last summer.

Farms, Prefers Teaching
Margaret Ellen, aged 13, is a student at Gettysburg Junior High School. She likes farming but prefers teaching. She hopes to become a teacher.

Meantime she is in her fourth year as a member of the Round Top 4-H Club. The club has worked closely along the cooking line the last years, taking up "It's Fun to Cook," "Snacks" and "Let's Pack a Lunch." Last year Margaret Ellen was also a member of the Horticultural Buds and won blue ribbons at the South Mountain Fair for her flowers, as well as a blue ribbon for her work in the Round Top Club. Shirley Ann, 16, is a member of three 4-H clubs, the Horticultural

Partner Of Father
Charles Richard Sterner, 18, is a full-time partner with his father in the operation of the Sterner farms, but he still keeps active in both 4-H and FFA. A graduate of Gettysburg High School last June, he won the chapter, area and the Keystone Farmer degrees of the Future Farmers of America while in school. In 4-H work he became first a member of the Tractor Club, then the Dairy Calf Club and finally Pleasant-Joy Club, in which he raised chickens as his project.

Currently in addition to being a partner with his father in the operation of two farms, one of 96 acres and the other 180 acres, and handling a 40-head dairy herd and raising some 4,000 chickens, Charles Richard is also president of the Adams County 4-H Council and is director of public relations for the Gettysburg Young Farmers Association.

Made Movie On Farm
The family has found itself in the last few years from time to time in some unusual situations, such as their farm being the site for a movie made by the national Future Farmers of America. In the course of that the Sterner home was painted first to look like it was unpainted and then repainted to look as it should when painted. Most members of the family got into the movie, and Mr. Sterner played a leading role. He has also been given the honorary Keystone Farmer degree for his outstanding work in aiding the farm education activities.

Kenneth Edgar Sterner, 19, a graduate of Gettysburg High School,

SUPPORT PRICE RAISED FOR ALL WHEAT GROWERS

The Adams County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee through its office manager, J. Glenn Miller, today announced that the minimum national average support price for the 1956 wheat crop has been raised to $2 per bushel.

This is in line with the President's farm message of April 18 announcing prompt administrative action to increase farm income, with a minimum wheat price support of $2 per bushel but not less than 82½ per cent of the wheat parity price, Miller won the Keystone Farmer degree while a student there and is a member of the Future Farmers of America. Kenneth never took part in 4-H activities, but has been studying the work of his brother and sisters rather closely of late, because he might be engaged in promoting the work in a few years.

Served In Army
Fifteen months ago Kenneth entered the Army, expecting that when his tour of duty was completed he would join his father as a partner on the farm. Last July he was hospitalized. February 29 he was discharged from the Army. Two weeks ago he was released from the hospital still with a limp and told that he cannot again engage in the heavy labor that goes with farming.

He hopes to enter Pennsylvania State University's agricultural education school next fall. His hope is to be either a teacher of agriculture in a school or a county agent. Elmer Schriver, his agriculture teacher, says he will make a good teacher. Associate County Agent Fred Atlinger is equally certain he will make a good county agent. His parents, brothers and sisters are certain he will make good in whichever field of endeavor he turns to.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterner, looking at their youngsters engaged in 4-H and FFA work, helping out about the farm, handsome, intelligent and hardworking young men and women, feel frequently a great contentment. Thirty years ago with a capital of $100 they were married and began farming. Farming has given them a good life. The three older children are married and doing well. The five younger ones are all doing well in their various activities. The farm is doing well. As Mrs. Sterner says, "It's been a good 30 years."

said. In the event that 82½ per cent of parity as of the beginning of the marketing year (July 1) is more than $2 per bushel the support price will be increased. At present, $2 is 83.7 per cent of parity.

Specific support rates by classes and grades for county and terminal locations will be made available soon. Wheat price support will be carried out, as in the past, through non-recourse loans and purchase agreements, and will be available from the beginning of harvest through next January 31. Both marketing quotas (approved by producers in a referendum June 25) and acreage allotments are in effect for the 1956 crop of wheat.

Raises Support Price
Today's action, following the President's farm message, raises the minimum support price for 1956-crop wheat from the $1.81 per bushel level (76 per cent of parity) previously announced. For 1955-crop wheat, the national average support price was $2.06 per bushel of 82½ per cent of parity.

"We are currently engaged in making a determination as to wheat acreages under the 1956 program," Miller added.

"Under this program a determination is being made as to the number of acres of wheat planted for harvest as grain on all farms in the county. Measurement of such acreage is being made on farms on which the acreage is estimated to be ten acres or more and on farms on which such acreage is less than ten and any producer having interest in the crop is applying for wheat price support. Farmers who have overplanted their allotment will have until June 1 to come into compliance by adjusting their wheat acreage."

"This adjustment may be made by using the excess while still green as hay, pasture or silage. The excess acres use must be made to the extent that wheat will not mature as grain. A producer to be eligible to obtain a marketing eard must stay within his allotment unless he harvests less than fifteen acres of wheat."

"Under marketing quotas now in effect, a producer who exceeds his farm wheat allotment, if he has more than fifteen acres of wheat for harvest, will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 45 per cent of parity on the excess production. Wheat from a farm on which the allotment has been exceeded is also not eligible for price support."

"Should a producer having excess come into compliance by one of the methods that have been explained above he should be sure to advise the county office so that a redetermination of his acreage can be made."

DON'T BREAK THE FILM

After you have painted a window, be very careful if you have to scrape paint off the glass not to damage the paint film over the putty with the razor blade. If this paint film is broken, moisture will get into cracks and start the putty to crumble.

David Rutters Is Quoted In Magazine

David Rutters, owner of Dave's Wallpaper and Paint Store, Carlisle St., claims he is "amazed" by the public response to "Dutch Boy" paint which he recently added to his stock.

In an interview appearing in a magazine which featured a picture of Rutters and his store, the local paint merchant is quoted as saying "I am amazed at the acceptance of 'Dutch Boy' Paint — it's been almost a magic word here. Even before I did any advertising this word was spreading around and I was selling paint. I received my stock in January and re-ordered twice before my first advertisement hit the newspaper and radio on February 1. What more can I ask. I've been in the paint and wallpaper business for 18 years and this is a new and very wonderful experience for me."

TIME FOR KARATHANE

to finish off powdery mildew

Apple growers who used KARATHANE WD last year are convinced there's just nothing better for powdery mildew control. When used as recommended, it cleans up even the severest infections without harming foliage or fruit.

It's especially important to use KARATHANE during post-bloom as a follow-up to pre-bloom sprays. While the pre-bloom spray checks carry-over mildew from last year, a post-bloom spray is just as essential for protecting next year's buds. All you need is 1 pound of KARATHANE per 100 gallons of spray, and 2 to 3 ounces of TRITON B-1956 spreader for thorough wetting of the "waxy" mildew.

You'll also like KARATHANE for the way it suppresses European red, Willamette, two-spotted, and Pacific mites. Get KARATHANE from your supplier today.

DITHANE CONTROLS RUST

Stop cedar and quince rust infections by using DITHANE Z-78 (zineb) in pre-cover sprays. When used as recommended, DITHANE will not harm the finish of sensitive varieties.

County Farm Agent Warns Of Danger From Rabies; Urges Drainage Of Wet Land To Slash Costs

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

In view of the new outbreak of rabies in Pennsylvania, the public should know certain facts about the disease.

Rabies is transmitted by the bite of an animal. The rabies virus is found in the rabid animal's saliva. The disease can develop only when the rabid animal bites a susceptible animal or human, breaking the skin. Rabies is not a disease of hot weather. It may occur all year-round, not necessarily in the "dog days" of summer.

Humans bitten by rabid animals can be treated successfully by the Pasteur method providing that the treatment is started immediately. Once symptoms of rabies develop in humans or animals, no treatment is possible and death invariably results.

The current outbreak of rabies thus far has been centered in Chester and Montgomery Counties, and the disease appears to be found primarily in foxes.

Of all animals associating with humans, dogs are the ones most likely to be bitten by rabid foxes. Thus, an effective way for helping protect humans from exposure would be through an organized effort to vaccinate all dogs and destroy all stray dogs and unwanted dogs. In the last five years there has been developed a new type of vaccine which will protect dogs successfully for at least three years.

Aside from the public health standpoint, the disease can produce serious economic loss in livestock. At least nine head of cattle have been destroyed by rabies in Pennsylvania this year.

When rabies appear in an area, close cooperation of regulatory officials, public health officials and practicing veterinarians is essential for eradication of the disease.

Cut Production Costs
Drainage of wet, fertile land increases crop yields and cuts cost of production up to 20 per cent.

Farming wet land increases wear and tear on equipment and wastes valuable time. First step in draining wet land is prompt, orderly removal of excess surface water.

If surface water stands too long

Roy W. Wetzel is the new manager of the feed mill and portable mill operation of the Central Chemical Corporation east of here along the Lincoln Highway at the Huntstown Rd.

Wetzel, father of three children, plans to move his family in the near future from his home in Dillsburg to Gettysburg. He comes to the Central Chemical Corp. after 17 years experience as manager of feed mills with Wayne Feeds and Custom Mixes at Dillsburg. Prior to that he was with the Manchester Grange, Emigsville.

In shallow pools it kills the crop, seals the surface and retards infiltration of rainfall. Adequate surface drainage leaves less surplus soil moisture to be removed by tile lines.

Good internal drainage may mean the saving of a week or more in getting a crop started. The free water removed by tile drains does not rob the plant of available moisture which tile lines cannot carry away.

More organic matter will improve the moisture relationship in any soil.

Systematic tile drainage costs from $75 to $125 an acre. In fertile soil drainage pays for itself in from 5 to 10 years.

Plan well before installing any tile drainage. Up to 15 per cent of all tile installed on farms consists of the replacement of unplanned "hit or miss" drainage. A well-planned drainage system will last 100 years, but the average life of a tile drain is generally only 40 to 50 years.

May is the time to prune your shrubs. Prune your early flowering shrubs immediately after they bloom. These include azalea, deutzia, flowering quince, forsythia and spirea. They all form their flower buds on wood produced the previous year, and, therefore, need pruning right after they flower.

Shrubs that bloom later in the season, after growth starts, usually form flower buds on new wood. So you prune those later flowering plants before growth starts. In pruning, always use a sharp tool so cuts will heal quickly. Don't prune a shrub the way you do a formal hedge or you'll destroy its natural beauty. Before May 15 you should prune

Don't Neglect Worn Spots On Floors; Patch

One of the disadvantages of patching a floor is that sooner or later you start to wear away the finish of the floor from the area in which you patch. If you continue to patch you will eventually wear away the floor but this takes a good deal of patching and really doesn't concern us at this time. What we are interested in is what to do about that worn finish short of doing the entire floor over.

Needless to say, when you notice that the finish of a floor has started to give in the areas where traffic is heavy, it should be attended to at once. If you let it go too long, dirt will get worked into the wood and the next thing you know you'll have a major refinishing job on your hands.

First thing to do with the worn area is to wash it clean with mild soap and warm water. Don't use too much water and rinse the area after cleaning with clean warm water and a clean cloth. Allow the area to dry and then sand it smooth. Start out using a medium-grade sandpaper. After one going over with this switch to a fine paper and then end up using a very fine grade. Be sure to sand in the direction of the wood grain. When you sand, be sure that you catch the edges of the surrounding finish for you want to smooth out these edges and give them a slight taper to make a nice joint with the patch. For the patch, use shellac or varnish depending on what the original finish was. You'll get a better looking job if you apply several thin coats rather than just a couple of heavy ones.

Even if you do a perfect job, the chances are that the patch will show a little but the only way that can be avoided is to refinish the entire floor, a job which you may not want to tackle at this particular time.

CURTAIN CHOICE

You can use curtains that are of a stripe or plaid design with a rug of all-over floral design if your walls and furniture are plain.

your narrow-leaf evergreens, such as yews, junipers and arborvitae. To have dense evergreens you have to prune every spring. Cut back the lengthy branches as much as one-third, and if necessary, cut into last year's growth. And once you have achieved the dense growth you want, only shearing need be done.

You can shape and trim broad-leaf evergreens after their flowering period is over. These include rhododendron, laurel, pieris and azalea. If any of your rhododendron or laurel is leggy you can renew its bushy growth by cutting the plant down to a couple of inches above the soil level. However, it will take several years before the new growth will attain good height.

ON THE HOUSE

Tragic fires caused by oil heaters are being reported in the papers almost daily this winter. Children are trapped in their blazing homes. There is no excuse for such tragedies. It certainly calls for a second look at this form of house heating—especially since space heaters provide the only heat in about 14 million American homes and supplementary heat in millions of other homes.

There is no reason why oil heaters, as well as gas heaters, can't be safe and operated safely. Lots of people can't afford a furnace or boiler. In fact central heating, usually regarded as a symbol of the American standard of living, became used in a majority of homes in the last few years.

The 1950 census showed that only 50.4 per cent of the single family homes in this country had central heat. The heating industry estimates that this percentage has now reached 59. This means that 41 houses out of every 100 have no furnace.

However, space heaters can be safe if you make sure you have a good one, made by a reputable manufacturer and properly installed.

Here's how you can write your own guarantee for an oil heater: The National Fire Protection Assn. says, "Specify equipment bearing the label of the Underwriters' Laboratories. Don't purchase second-hand equipment without competent advice. Trust only qualified mechanics to install your equipment. Obtain skilled maintenance on oil-burning units."

Because portable, unvented heaters are the most hazardous, the association offers these six tips:

1. Don't place a portable heater in or near a doorway.
2. Don't place it where it might easily be tipped over.
3. Don't place it close to curtains or bedding.
4. Don't operate a portable heater in a room lacking ventilation. Open a window, especially at night.
5. Don't let children play near a portable heater.
6. Don't fill a heater while it is burning or hot. Use a container with a pouring spout and use a funnel.

Manufacturers are vitally concerned with the safety angle for all types of heaters. We asked Sheldon Coleman of Wichita, Kans., who heads a firm making space heaters as well as furnaces and air conditioners, for his point of view on this problem. He pointed out that vented oil heaters, in which fumes are carried outdoors through a flue, can be considered safe when they carry the UL label and are installed in accordance with local building codes and manufacturers' instructions.

"Today's vented oil heaters are designed so that the flame is concealed and the cabinets stay relatively cool," Coleman explained. "In the case of the oil floor furnace, a safety control automatically shuts the flame off if the temperature at the floor-level grille, where the warm air comes out, threatens to rise above the safety limit. This is positive insurance against fire if a rug should accidentally be pushed across the grille and block the flow of air."

Modern gas heaters also embody just about every possible safety feature. When you buy a gas heater, check to see that it has controls that automatically shut off the gas to prevent overheating or the escape of unburned gas, concealing the flame so that children or combustible material such as curtains can't brush against it, and that it has relatively cool cabinets to permit installation close to walls.

For gas heaters, the counterpart of the UL label is the label of the American Gas Assn. This AGA mark is an accepted authority and can't be used by a manufacturer until the appliance has passed extensive safety tests in the AGA laboratories in Cleveland.

So many people are enlarging their homes, finishing attics, converting porches or breezeways, or garages into rooms, that space heaters will be here to stay regardless of central heating installations. When a house is enlarged the furnace or boiler usually turns out to be too small for the added rooms. If the heating plant still is essentially sound, replacement may be considered extravagant. Supplementary heat becomes the answer.

The first Irish immigrants arrived in what is now the United States in 1621, says the National Geographic Society.

ELEGANT WALL

Many home remodeling fans are discovering a new and different wall surfacing which has elegance and beauty but costs no more than regular wall panelling. It is vertical grain flooring, either fir or west coast hemlock, and because of the tongue-and-groove is easy to install snugly. You can change the appearance of a room by building one or two walls with this flooring which can be bought at any retail lumber yard. It can be buffed and sanded smooth, then finished in any of many wonderful ways.

BUILDING AND FARM

Ladino Clover Rates High As Hog Pasture

Ladino clover ranks high as a hog pasture, according to Litton & Lewis of Virginia. Tests showed Ladino was superior to lespedeza, crimson clover or ryegrass pasture when grazed with pigs from early April until late August.

The first year the Ladino was seeded in February and grazing started in April. The pigs were farrowed in the spring and as soon as they were weaned were started on the tests. Pigs were full-fed grain on each of these pastures in self-feeders, and comparable lots were hand-fed grain in limited amounts on each of these types of pastures. Additional check groups dry-lot fed were also fed.

Pigs stayed on the pasture until they reached market weights, or until corn was ready for hogging down in the fall. The largest gains of all were made by the full-fed dry-lot pigs, 1.08 pounds per day. But it took 344 pounds of feed to make 100 pounds of gain in the dry lot. This was 73 pounds more than the Ladino lots required. The pigs on Ladino, where protein supplement was used, made .78 of a pound per day.

100 Pounds Of Pork
In the full-fed Ladino lots, 271 pounds of grain with no protein supplement at all made 100 pounds of pork. This was the most economical lot in the whole test. It took 306 pounds of grain where protein supplement was added to achieve the same result. It is certainly quite evident that the Ladino furnished sufficient protein for the growing-fattening pigs so that no additional protein supplement in the ration seemed to be needed.

The greatest value from Ladino pasture came in terms of grain replacement when the amount of feed the pigs got was limited. A total of 1,880 pounds of feed were saved by an acre of Ladino pasture on the limited feeding schedule. Where pigs were full-fed, 1,687 pounds of feed were saved by an acre of Ladino. With the usual prices of feeds, this means that an acre of Ladino can be worth around $100 in the hog production program every year.

A few noticeable things in the grazing of the pigs were that they were always anxious to graze the Ladino and did so with relish, showing that it was palatable. The fact that an acre of Ladino can mean so much to swine farms is an important factor in economical pork production.

It is the first grazing crop introduced into the hog section of Virginia that would justify taking an acre out of cultivation to grow. The Ladino should be seeded as a pure stand of Ladino rather than with grass mixtures because the pigs do not relish the grasses as much as the Ladino and consequently will not keep them grazed properly.

Seeing is believing for these farmers, who might have been skeptical about the value of Ladino clover pasture for hogs.

How To Figure Paint Needed

A lot of people run into trouble in painting their homes because they haven't figured before they started just how much paint they would actually need. By the time they get half-way through they decide that the job is taking too much paint and costing too much money. What a lot of them do then is to switch to some cheap off-brand paint and the final result is not often so good.

The amount of paint required for a house will depend on the size of the house, the number of coats and the type of surface you are painting. It will also depend on the kind of paint you use. It's easy enough to figure out the number of square feet of surface you have to cover — simply multiply the width of each wall by its height and then add them all together.

Gallon Coverage

If your house is covered with wood siding you can expect a gallon of paint to cover between 450 and 500 square feet on the first coat. On a second coat a gallon should cover about 550 square feet.

Now, if your house is covered with wood shingles a gallon on the first coat will cover only about 350 square feet and about 400 square feet on the second coat.

If you have asbestos siding and use an asbestos shingle siding paint, look for a coverage of about 200 square feet per gallon on the first coat and about 400 square feet for the second coat. A paint suitable for use on brick siding will give you about the same coverage. The reason you get such poor coverage on wood shingles, asbestos and brick is because these surfaces are more porous than ordinary wood siding and they quickly absorb much of the paint from the first coat. The second coat does better.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Around the house: To rust-proof nails for exterior use, dip in paste you can make of powdered graphite and linseed oil. . . Vertical louvered fence will shut out unsightly view from your backyard yet let any summer breezes through. . . Inexpensive way to build a corner or other living room table: Screw metal or wood legs to lowest 4-inch plywood top, then cover top with plastic tiles and use narrow tiles ("feature strips") to neatly cover edges. Result: Good-looking, damage-free table.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER

The Associated Press

Home building and home improvement are now exceeding all expectations. Residential building contracts are running at an all time high and the demand for materials and equipment for home modernization is showing industries that they were ultra-conservative in mapping plans for the current Operation Home Improvement program.

At the same time, the outlook for the future is — well, Prof. John F. Mee, head of the Dept. of Management at the Indiana University School of Business, says get ready for "a vastly increased demand for housing by 1960 as a result of the 40 per cent increase in population between 1940 and 1950."

So it is interesting to take a preview glimpse of the biggest home building exposition now on the boards. This will be the first big show to occupy all four exhibit floors of New York's spectacular Coliseum. It will be the International Home Building Exposition with displays from various nations and visiting delegations from Russia, Japan and Korea, according to the schedule to date.

Build Full Size Houses
Four full size houses will be built on the floors of the new Coliseum in less than three days (and nights) in order to be ready for the opening of this exposition on May 12. They will be completely decorated and furnished to illustrate, along with some 500 other exhibits, the exposition's theme "Showcase for Better Living."

One of these houses, a practical push button house, will be fitted with year-round air conditioning supplied by a heat pump. It also will have a private television camera — a type anyone will be able to buy — focused on an outdoor children's play area with a constant picture of the youngster's activities shown on a picture screen in the kitchen. (No wonder kids think a mother has eyes in the back of her head.)

Opens In May

If all that sounds dreamy for your budget, you'll still want to take a look at the show (and the Coliseum) if you're headed toward Broadway in May. While we were looking over the list of new building materials, colorful decorating accessories and smart equipment scheduled to go on display, one of the managers of the exposition poked our elbow and said "Look, no potato peelers — everything is serious home building stuff."

Stimulates Sales

Homeowners are more interested in such serious stuff than in potato peelers any day. The leading added feature being used by home builders to stimulate sales, according to a survey made by the National Assn. of Real Estate Editors, is an exhaust fan in kitchen, bathroom or both.

Built-in ovens and garbage disposers rank second and third in this survey. Countertop vanity lavatories come next in popularity.

Year-round air conditioning apparently isn't getting much of the builders' money. The editors reported that builders are leaving summer cooling up to the owner if he wants it as an extra.

So a maker of built-in wall air conditioners made a survey of his own to find out what gimmicks builders are using to sell their houses. He found them offering free wall-to-wall carpeting, a tank full of fuel oil, a puppy for the kids, a full year of weekly maid service, lunch with a movie star, season box seats at a major league baseball park, dance lessons, Bermuda vacations and complete wardrobes to each member of your family.

HARDWOOD FLOORS

Buffing with steel wool, with electrically driven equipment, has simplified the cleaning of hardwood floors. Smoother floors result and the smoother a floor, the easier it is to keep clean. Hardware dealers often rent such equipment and in many places service men will do the job at a nominal charge.

It is 2,300 miles from Gibraltar to the Suez canal.

HOUSING OUTLOOK

Normal population growth indicates that by 1976 almost two million homes will have to be built every year in the U. S. to meet demand. Part of this need will be created by some 16 million existing homes becoming substandard in the next 20 years.

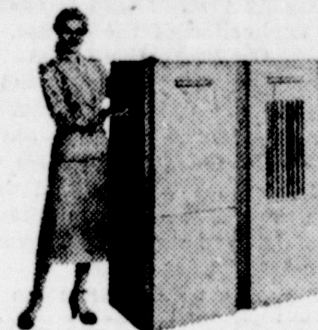

STEEL CABINET DEPTH

Most steel kitchen wall cabinets are approximately 13 inches deep.

PROTECT YOUR HANDS

Before you start painting, rub a light coat of raw linseed oil on your hands. Dab off any excess oil. When finished, just wash your hands with soap and water, and all the paint, grime and dirt will be gone.

BALKS PAYING FOR NEW DAM

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said Friday he opposes U.S. participation in financing of the proposed Aswan Dam in Egypt.

George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and chief spokesman on foreign policy in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

He said in an interview he thinks it would be "very unwise to help one of the belligerents in an area of possible conflict while there is no guarantee of stable peace there," and he continued:

"I am against making commitments for the Aswan Dam. The situation is bad in the Middle East and I think it would be one of the worst things we could do now. I don't know how we could justify it."

The United States has joined with Britain in offering Egypt 70 million dollars for a start on the dam. The $6-million-dollar U.S. portion of this offer is available in foreign aid funds due to revert to the Treasury unless committed before June 30.

Earlier financing would come largely from the World Bank, which has announced substantial agreement with Egypt. Talks are continuing, however, on some thorny side issues.

The Aswan Dam has become something of a bargaining point in Middle East negotiations since Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser indicated he still may consider Russian offers of aid to build the project.
